Ephrata National Bank Creates $250,000 Fund for the Clinic for Special Children

LANCASTER COUNTY, PA – Today, Ephrata National Bank (ENB) is announcing the creation of a fund for the Clinic for Special Children, a nonprofit comprehensive medical clinic located in Gordonville, Lancaster County, PA, that cares for families facing rare genetic disorders, primarily in the local Amish and Mennonite communities.

ENB seeded the fund with a $250,000 gift, which will support the Clinic's sustainability as they continue their innovative, cutting-edge work in their new 28,000-square-foot facility. "We are honored to support the Clinic for Special Children and the groundbreaking work they do for families affected by rare genetic disorders. This fund represents our commitment to invest in the health and well-being of our community, and we are excited to see the positive impact it will have in helping the Clinic provide innovative care and support. We invite others to join us in supporting this important mission and ensuring its success for generations to come," states Jeffrey Stauffer, President, CEO, and Chairman of Ephrata National Bank.

The fund is open to donors who would like to consider a gift for the benefit of the Clinic in perpetuity. Interested donors can visit Ephrata National Bank's website at www.epnb.com for more information.

“We are deeply grateful to Ephrata National Bank for their partnership and investment in our mission to serve families facing rare genetic disorders, largely from the local Plain communities. The fund will allow us to continue to care for children as they age, discover new life-saving treatments, and be here for families when they need us most for generations to come,” shares Adam D. Heaps, MS, MBA, Executive Director of the Clinic for Special Children.
